INTRIGUE EXPOSURE

ivities of the German government in Mexico.

Senator Lodge said he did not desire to embarrass the president, though other Senators charged it. The revelations stirred the capital. They showed how Germany is confident that unrestricted submarine warfare would bring England to her knees by the proposed triple blow.

The instructions from Zimmerman to Minister von Eckhardt in Mexico City were transmitted through von Bernstorff. At one sweep Germany planned to weaken the entente by the defection of Japan and strike a crushing blow on England's naval power by cutting off Mexican fuel oil and engage the attention of the United States by an invasion which Japan would be invited to join and for which service Mexico should regain its "lost provinces."

The Republicans abandoned their filibuster against defense legislation and the armed neutrality bill today and assured the Democrats they would stand by the president.

The Japanese embassy states that while it does not know whether the German proposal reached Tokio, no such invitation would be considered by Japan because of the good friendship with the United States and close relations with other entente powers. The president will insist that he be empowered to use "other instrumentalities."

The magnitude and astounding nature of Germany's proposal is overshadowing all other considerations in the government.

Secretary of State Lansing took great care to exonerate both Japan and Mexico. He said the United States had no knowledge that the proposal had been conveyed through Mexico to Japan. In view of the fact that the plan was not to be presented until "it is certain there will be an outbreak of war with the United States," it was not certain, Lansing said, that the matter had been presented officially to Carranza.

It is known definitely that the Zimmerman instructions reached von Bernstorff, that he forwarded them to Mexico City and that they reached the German minister there, but the trail of official certainty is lost there.

YARROWDALE PRISONERS ALLOWED TO LEAVE

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Mar. 1.—Two American ships' surgeons and two veterinarians, who were brought to Germany on the Yarrowdale, left Berlin today en route for Denmark.

DELAYED BY A FREIGHT

Train No. 24 was three hours late arriving this morning, owing to the derailment of a freight train at Acme station, near Luning. The passenger was on time at Mina but the T. & G. had to wait for the southbound freight to receive two carloads of fresh meat.

A BUSINESS CHANGE

E. R. Shields, one of Tonopah's pioneer grocers, has disposed of his stock and goodwill to Horace Chiatovich and Pete Beko. Mr. Chiatovich was for years a member of the firm of Chiatovich & Terkla and is a successful business man. Mr. Beko is also an old resident and a prominent fraternity man. He has been engineer at the Extension. The new owners are now open for business. They will receive a big stock of fresh goods in a few days. They are making extensive improvements to the establishment.

VETERAN TONOPAH FREIGHTERS WITH THE 20 MULE BORAX TEAM

Tonopah has the distinguished honor of furnishing the mule skinner for the universally known 20-mule team outfit now travelling from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast by the southern route. The journey was started last week in San Francisco and the first day's progress ended at the civic center where the outfit went into camp for the night surrounded by scores of camera fiends and several thousand spectators who crowded around in spite of the inclement weather. The well-known trade mark from Death Valley is revived for the purpose of advertising the products of the Pacific Coast Borax company, founded by "Borax" Smith, who is largely interested in Tonopah properties through his ownership of the West End and Halifax mines.

The outfit was engineered by Fred Wilson, who freighted out of Sodaville and Tonopah in the early days, assisted by two swamper. Fred is now in the sixties but is able to hold his own with the youngest drivers in the country. This fact is attested by his selection for the long journey, which is likely to call for the display of resourcefulness seldom demanded on the road. The route for the first day was from

LAST OF THE OLD BUNCH CASHES IN

Joseph Edwin Eckley, one of the pioneer residents and printers of the Comstock, passed away last night about 8:30 o'clock at his home on North C street, where he had been in a precarious condition for the past two weeks. He was badly injured by falling on the trail to the Union mine and lost a large amount of blood before he was found and taken to his home. He rallied for a time, but for the past few days has gradually failed until death summoned him last evening.

Mr. Eckley was a native of Macon, Georgia, and was born in 1837. He crossed the plains when a young man, prior to which he was employed at the office of the Emporium Transcript. He had resided in Virginia City for 54 years and for many years was the efficient manager of the Daily Territorial Enterprise composing room. He was the only survivor of the composing room force employed at that historic office at the time Mark Twain appeared at the office with his blankets on his back. He told many incidents of the famous author while employed on the Enterprise. Mr. Eckley had been state printer twice, first when he was located at Belmont in this state. For the past ten years he had been employed as watchman at the mines. Mr. Eckley was a member of the Virginia Mine Workers' Union.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 1.—The president has signed the Flood control bill.

FIRE HYDRANTS PUT OUT OF COMMISSION

CARELESS METHODS LIKELY TO ENTAIL SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES TO PROPERTY

Four fire hydrants at important points are knocked out through the practice of householders resorting to them for the purpose of drawing a supply of water for domestic use. Henry Kelly, the fire chief, tried to remedy this state of affairs by removing the spammers kept at some of the hydrants, but this made the trouble worse than ever for the people brought monkey wrenches to turn on the water and then did not have sufficient leverage to shut the hydrant off without permitting the water to keep on accumulating until it rose to the top and burst the plugs when ice formed. When the spammers are used the water is shut off completely and what remains in the base drains off automatically, leaving none to freeze.

The trouble is so serious that the town trustees have given notice that further infractions will lead to prosecutions.

PYTHIANS HOLD AN ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

Mizpah lodge, Knights of Pythias, held one of its regular socials last evening at the Airdome with an attendance that taxed the capacity of the house. The regular orchestra was present and discoursed the latest music that kept the toes tickling for a dance. The event was for the purpose of stimulating interest in the social life of the order which is one of the chief features of the Pythian brotherhood. The committee consisted of Lloyd Mayer, Charles Bevis and Stanley Knight. The dances will be given monthly.

RULES TIGHTEN FOR GRAZING PRIVILEGE

FOREST RESERVE APPLICATIONS MUST BE IN SIX MONTHS BEFORE SEASON

In addition to the flat increase of 25 per cent in the grazing fees charged on national forest reserves, there is to be a general tightening up of all regulations affecting the granting of grazing privileges, according to the most recently orders just received from Washington by district forest supervisors in Nevada.

The letter received by the supervisor of the national forest is but a sample of the instructions going out broadcast to similar officials, it is said.

The new instructions are that new applicants for grazing privileges must file their applications at least six months in advance of the opening of the year-long grazing season. Previously new applicants had not been required to file until January 1 of the year in which they desired to exercise the privilege.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

The feature at the Butler this evening is a five-reel production, "Arms and the Woman," with beautiful Mary Nash as the star. A picture that will hold everyone in every audience owing to the strength and humanness of the story and characters who take part in it. It is thoroughly American—a vivid tale on a timely topic, picturing the hearts and homes touched by the lengthening shadows of war clouds. Miss Nash, whose career on the legitimate stage has made her one of the best known of young American actresses, appears for the first time in the role of Rozika, a beautiful Hungarian girl who comes to America gifted with a golden voice, she has an excellent opportunity for her talent. When David Belasco, the wizard of the American stage, produced "The Woman," he chose Mary Nash to play the title role. She is now being starred on Broadway in "The Man Who Came Back." The critics say "well enacted, well written and well produced." The preliminary reels will be a Hearst-Pathe and a Ford Weekly, making a nice program.

Tomorrow Valeska Suratt in "The Victim," and "The Battle of Let's Go," a crackerjack two reel comedy, one made for amusement purposes only.

Watch for date on "The Parson of Panamint," a story of our Death Valley country, and written by Peter B. Kyne.

LIBERTY THEATER

Little Zoe Rae, the child wonder, in a Bluebird production entitled "Gloriana." This is a five-reel comedy drama, and is in a class by itself. In the first place the work of everyone is secondary to the youthful star. On her young shoulders rests the task of carrying the production to success and she will inspire you to say "Isn't she clever!" "Isn't she a dear?" Little Zoe Rae belongs in the front ranks of child actresses and bears her honors in "Gloriana" with gratifying ease. The part she plays is a child of the stage, a winsome little miss of five, who has faced the footlights almost from birth, who upon the death of her mother and father is adopted by a rich family who believe in charity only to the extent of receiving what honor they can from the same. It takes the young heart and actions of Zoe Rae to explain to the rich couple the real meaning of charity.

Mutt & Jeff in a one-reel comedy. Tomorrow: Helen Holmes in chapter 7 of "The Lass of the Lumberlands," entitled "The Runaway Car" also a big five reel feature entitled "The Decoy," featuring Frances Nelson, a story of society gamblers. Do not overlook Saturday's show. It is a dandy. Auto given away Saturday. Bring your youngsters.

ATTENTION MOOSE

All members of the Loyal Order of Moose are urged to attend the meeting tonight. Nomination of officers.

FRED STEEN, Secretary.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

This is to give notice to all parties concerned that any interference with fire hydrants will be punished according to law. Household-ers who have been drawing domestic water supply from these hydrants are expressly prohibited from continuing the practice and failure to comply with these instructions will be prosecuted.
